MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

The South African Fresh Produce Exporters' Forum (FPEF) is delighted to present the 2024 edition of the Fresh Produce Export Directory. This unique directory is published annually as a service to, and a source of information for, the international fresh produce trading community.

The FPEF is a voluntary, non-profit organisation with more than 150 members. FPEF members consist of fresh produce exporters, producer-exporters, pack houses, logistics and other service providers. The FPEF Export Directory contains comprehensive information about South African fresh fruit and vegetable exports, including the contact details of FPEF members – updated regularly on the FPEF website: www.fpef.co.za

The publication features different kinds of fruit and vegetables and provides the latest statistics about South African fresh fruit and vegetable export volumes, export periods and export destinations. We trust that the information contained in this edition of the Export Directory will be of value to you in your trade relations with the South African fresh produce export industry.

Please note that the information contained in this publication was correct at the time of publication. Should information change, the digital version will be updated on our website.

Anton Kruger

Chief Executive Officer (CEO)

Fresh Produce Exporters' Forum (FPEF)

OVERVIEW OF SOUTH AFRICA AND THE FRESH PRODUCE INDUSTRY

South Africa is located at the southernmost tip of Africa. The country has almost 3 000 kilometres of coastline, which is bordered in the north by Zimbabwe, Botswana, Mozambique and Namibia. Prominent ports for South African fresh produce exports include the port of Cape Town, the port of Durban, the port of Port Elizabeth (Gqeberha) and the neighbouring port of Ngqura – also known as Coega.

The winter season in South Africa falls between May and August, whereas summer begins mid-October and lasts until the end of February. Summers are characterised by long, hot and sunny days – often with afternoon thunderstorms in the central and northern regions of the country. The coastal areas experience less adverse weather conditions and are prone to more stable environments.

Widely regarded as an emerging market, South Africa has a well-established and highly functional financial system – backed by the South African Reserve Bank. The local currency is the South African Rand (ZAR).

Fresh fruit accounts for approximately 35% of South African agricultural exports. Fruit exports include citrus fruit, pome fruit, stone fruit, table grapes, subtropical fruit, berries and other exotic fruit – exported to more than 100 destinations. Vegetables are also exported from South Africa. The economic value generated from these exports is in excess of $3.5 billion.

OVERVIEW OF THE FRESH PRODUCE EXPORTERS' FORUM

The Fresh Produce Exporters' Forum (FPEF) is a voluntary, non-profit organisation with more than 150 members who must adhere to a strict Code of Conduct to ensure that only competent and reliable marketing agents, grower-exporters and other service providers are accepted as members of the Forum. FPEF members account for about 90% of fresh fruit exported from South Africa.

Essentially a service organisation, some of the FPEF's services include generic promotions in new and existing markets, the distribution of information to members and representation of the industry in relevant committees.

The FPEF also provides training programmes, market access support for emerging farmers and emerging exporters, as well as a placement programme for graduates seeking employment in the fresh produce export industry. In addition, the FPEF manages the Post-Harvest Innovation (PHI) Programme. The PHI Programme is a successful public-private partnership – focused on post-harvest research projects across a range of industries within the South African horticultural sector.

The FPEF is also a pivotal link between Government and the industry regarding market access and related matters. More than anything, the FPEF intends to create value for its members to help ensure a profitable, sustainable and globally competitive fresh produce export industry.
